Recorded to 1-inch eight-track
analog tape at the Tritschler Precision Engineering Headquarters
in Enon, OH.

Flat transfer to disc from first-generation
1/4-inch analog master tapes by Clint Holley
at Well Made Music in Cleveland, OH
using a Neumann VMS-70 cutting system.

Mastering consultation: Duke Fecteau,
Chris Ivan, Tony Tritschler, and Curtis Welch.

Manufactured by GGR in Cleveland, OH.

This is a high-fidelity recording.
Our proprietary signal path features hand-built tube microphones with AKG and Microtech Gefell capsules; a hybrid twelve-channel console with tube microphone preamplifiers and discrete Class-A line and summing amplifiers;
custom tube monitor amplifiers with discrete FET active dividing networks; a stereo optical 4:1 compressor with precision tube makeup amplifiers; and custom-modified tape recorder electronics. The entire signal path from microphone capsule to master tape record head is transformerless, unbalanced, and 100% analog.
All reverberation effects are generated by our tube-driven live echo chamber. No equalization and only minimal dynamic compression
was used in the making of this recording.

Special effects on "Snakebite!"
were created in real time using three Crown SX-722 tape recorders.
